SENATORS MEET
NEW YORKS TODAY

Locals Showed Improvement in Boston Series.

FANS CAN SIZE UP CASSIDY

Little Fellow Whom Boston Papers Touted Will Play Third Base.

The Washington team has returned from Boston, where it dropped three games to the champions, and will this afternoon meet the much-touted New York Americans, at the Seventh Street grounds.

Along with the arrival of the Senators comes the announcement that several new faces will be seen in the Senatorial camp in a short while.

Washington graces the cellar of the American League apartment house, but the trio of good games put up at Boston has put new life into the fans, and a large crowd will undoubtedly take advantage of the pleasant weather to take in the game this afternoon. The fielding of the locals against the world's champions could not have been much better, and if they add to their achievement and wield their willows with effect today, may give Clarke Griffith's pennant chasers a tough argument.

May Size Up Cassidy.

The series with Boston served more than anything else to bring little Cassidy more prominently before the baseball public. Boston papers tout him as the real thing, and today's game will give the fans their first opportunity to see him in action in big league company. He will play third base, in the absence of Bill Coughlin, who is grief-stricken over the death of his wife.

The latter has received messages of condolence from nearly every player on the team. It is doubtful if the Scranton lad will be seen in uniform for several weeks, and Cassidy is coming in handy as a utility man. If he plays as good ball here as he is said to have done in Boston, he may even get a regular place in the Senators line-up.

The invaders come here fresh from a defeat at the hands of Connie Mack's Athletics, but it took the great Rube Waddell and twelve innings to down the Gothamites.

Grounds Are Improved.

The grounds will present a much better appearance than at the opening games. During the trip of the team to Boston men have been at work each day rolling and leveling, which was in a deplorable condition.

The probable line-up of the teams this afternoon will be:

WASHINGTON.—Moran, ss; Conroy, 2b; Cassidy, 3b; Selbach, 1c; Keeler, cf; J. Smith, lb; McCormick, 2b; Thoney, rf; Hoffman, cf; Kiltredge, c; Wilson, p.

Games of Yesterday.

The Senators broke their line of defeats yesterday by not playing. They were to have played at Lynn, Mass., but the cold wave put that scheme to the bad.

In the National League Philadelphia snored New York under in New York by 12 to 1 in the opening of the Giants' season on their own grounds yesterday. Boston barely beat Brooklyn 5 to 2, and Pittsburgh won from Cincinnati by the narrow margin of 5 to 4. Chicago beat St. Louis 4 to 1, all the runs being made in the last inning.

Wednesday, Friday, and Sunday are practice days. The first match game will be played with the Sons of St. George, at Baltimore, May 15.

On Saturday, when Howard returns, it will play a game with the team representing the council of upper classmen on the Howard University campus.

SAM BOLEN STAYED
LIMIT WITH JOE GANS

Veteran Fooled Wise Ones by Unexpected Cleverness—Champion Down in Fifteenth Round.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 22.—The veteran Sam Bolen last night sprung a surprise on the lightweight champion, Joe Gans, before the Eureka Athletic Club. Although Gans was awarded the decision, the bout went the limit of fifteen rounds, and Bolen gave the local boy all that he could attend to.

For the first five rounds the battle was even. In the sixth the champion began forcing matters, and in the seventh had Bolen's left eye damaged and his nose bleeding. Bolen came back strong and was fighting like a Trojan. Gans kept up his aggressive work, but Bolen fought well and did some clever blocking.

A right to the jaw sent Bolen to the floor. In the eleventh round, and he took the count of nine. In the fourteenth a hook to the same place again sent him down. In the fifteenth round Gans was sent to the canvas. It was a hard fight, and Gans, in comparison to his previous bouts, put up a very slow fight.

AMATEUR BASEBALL.

The Washington School baseball team defeated Emerson Institute yesterday by a score of 21 to 9.

The game was marked by frequent errors on the part of the Washington boys and by their heavy batting. Campbell made three base hits, Woodward four and Winslow five. Of the five hits made by Emerson, Carver made two. The game was played on the Washington School athletic grounds, in Wisconsin Avenue. The score by innings was as follows:

Washington..... 0 0 7 2 2 0 3 2 5—21 30 16
Emerson..... 3 1 0 3 2 0 0 0—9 5 11

The Lafayettees have been successful this season. They have won three games and lost none. Monday they played the Eastern Empire, one of the strongest amateur teams in the city. The struggle lasted for ten innings with the Lafayettees last at the bat. In the tenth inning the game was called on account of darkness. The score was 11 to 4. Teams wishing games address challenges to E. Corbett, 653 Acker Street northeast. Challengers state age and on what conditions they will play.

VIRGINIANS WON FROM COLUMBIAN

Washington and Lee Batted Burkett Hard.

HARRIS TWIRLED GOOD BALL

But He Was Substituted Too Late. The Locals Stole Ten Bases.

Washington and Lee, the conqueror of Virginia, yesterday afternoon defeated the Columbian at University Park, by the score of 12 to 8. Washington and Lee is the strongest team Columbian has met, but the locals played their best game of the season, as is evidenced by the closeness of the score.

Burkett started off to do the twirling for Columbian, and got his rare from the beginning. He lasted for four innings, during which time ten runs were made off his delivery. He was yanked out of the box after the damage had been done, and Harris was substituted. Only five bingles were secured off this young man in the remainder of the game, and the visitors added only two more tallies to their list. Had he pitched the full game Columbian would probably have won.

A Trio of Twirlers.

Columbian used up three of the Virginia pitchers, and had not Chilton been substituted for Johnson in the last two innings there might have been a different tale to tell. But Stevenson's two-bagger was all the damage Columbian could do to his benders.

At least half of Columbian's runs were due to Trimble, who caught for Washington and Lee. Trimble's wing was in bad shape, and ten locals purloined bases.

NEW QUARTERS FOR GUARSMEN

Georgetown Men Will Have to Vacate Boathouse.

RESIDENTS MAKE COMPLAINT

Say It Obstructs Their Landings and Decreases Value of Property.

In another month Georgetown will have to seek another boathouse. The business residents of Water Street, near Third-street, have complained to the District Commissioners that the Georgetown boathouse is detrimental to their property and have urged that it be removed.

The principal complainants are J. G. Waters, general commission merchant, whose landing is next to the boathouse on the west; P. T. Berry, who owns the land on which Cumberland's boathouse, next to the Georgetown house on the east, is located, and Charles H. Cragin, whose place adjoins Cumberland's. But in fact most everyone along the street objects.

Will Vacate Property.

The Georgetown officials have three times asked for an extension of the time for them to get out, and in each case it has been granted, but yesterday Coach Dempsey said that they would probably vacate the premises within thirty days.

The complaint lodged is that it obstructs landings and makes it difficult for ships to unload cargoes. The merchants say if they wished to sell their property it would be greatly devalued by the fact that the Georgetown house is so near at hand.

The present boathouse was established by the old Columbian Athletic Club in 1881. Samuel Wheatley, who was District Commissioner at that time, granted the club a charter, permitting it to build a boathouse on the water front at Third-second and K Streets northwest, which is now commonly known in that vicinity as Water Street. The present Commissioners find that Mr. Wheatley had no authority to take such action, and the protest of the property owners along Water Street will be sustained. It has since developed that the Columbian Athletic Club has paid rent for the premises, it is alleged.

Property Owners Are It.

Under the District code, anyone owning property along the river front on Water Street is entitled to a wharf or landing, the width of his place of business. The ground occupied by the Georgetown boathouse is the property of the Government and therefore the college is not qualified to remain. It is probably just as well that Georgetown has to vacate the boathouse now as it undoubtedly would be forced to do so before long from other sources. A Jesuit institution has had charge of it since 1890, when it was given over to it by the Columbian Athletic Club.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company contemplates running a line from below the Aqueduct Bridge to Great Falls, in which case the boats would have to pack their trunks and leave. A movement is now before Congress to grant the company a charter to carry out its present plans. It was attempted once before, but the scheme was nipped in the bud. Already $200,000 have been spent by the Baltimore and Ohio in contemplation of the movement.

If the plan is carried through there will be two tracks, part of which have already been laid on Water Street. Money for a new house will probably be secured by Georgetown through subscriptions from wealthy graduates who take an active interest in rowing and the institution.

A Desirable Site.

If this money is accumulated it is planned to build a new boathouse either to the east or west of the Aqueduct Bridge. This location would be far more desirable than the present, and would in no way interfere with property owners. The present location of the boathouse is none too good, as the river is polluted at that point. Less than a quarter of a mile to the west there is a sewer, from which pours a majority of the waste of Georgetown, and within a stone's throw is a huge stone crusher. The dust created by the crushing of the stone blows down the river to the boathouse and settles into the paint of the shells, which necessitates much repainting in order to keep them looking respectable.

Another advantage offered by the proposed site near Aqueduct Bridge is that the clear water will afford the boys an excellent opportunity for swimming after practice.

National Guard Meet
Takes Place Tonight

Preliminary Heats Run Off in Drill Hall of Center Market Armory Last Evening.

Everything in Readiness.

Preliminary trial heats for the indoor meet of the Athletic Association of the National Guard of the District of Columbia, which will take place tonight in the drill hall of Center Market armory, were contested last night.

The most notable performance was that of T. Paul Cook, in the shot-put. He put the regulation indoor shot 28 feet and 11 inches, breaking the National Guard record by four inches. Cook's performance is all the more remarkable because of the fact that he is comparatively small for such a strenuous event as the shot-put, weighing only 140 pounds.

Those who qualified for their events tonight are:

One mile run—Gill, Post, Dennis, Connor, and Robey.
Fifty-yard dash—Drager, Le Mat, Cook, Brown, Rummel, and Loughran.
40-yard run—Dennis, Robey, Rice, and Hunt.
Putting shot—Cook, 38 feet and 11 inches; Curtis, 35 feet and 10 inches; J. Graham, 35 feet and 10 inches; Boyle, 35 feet and 7 inches.
Running high jump—White, Curtis, and Le Mat.

Three-legged race—Kane and Loughran, Rice and Boyle, Graham and Graham, Bateman and Post.

800-yard run—Gill, Babcock, Fenton, Hopkins, Bateman, and Hunt.
40-yard run—Heavy marching order: Gill, E. Graham, and Loughran.
Potato race—Post, Kane, E. Graham, Loughran, J. Graham, and Aldrich.
Running spring board jump—Schlosser, Le Mat, White, and Curtis.
Running broad jump—Connor, 17 feet and 11 inches; Schlosser, 17 feet and 1 inch; Curtis, 17 feet and 11 inches.

Company relay—Teams representing Companies E and I, First Regiment, and Companies E and F, Second Regiment. Everything is in readiness for tonight's games, which will be begun promptly at 8 o'clock. Any man who is not on scene in time for his event will be ruled out of it.

Rows of reserved seats have been erected on the east and west sides of the drill hall and accommodations made to house the largest crowd which ever attended a National Guard indoor meet.

Music will be furnished by the National Guard Band, and the monotony of the regular events will be enlivened with high-class specialties, the feature of which will be the marvelous cycle whirl by the Baker troupe.
